Garage Doors, Incorporated was established in February of 1987. Its founder Scott Jensen partnered with Gene Scott and later Mark Laugenour. These three have deep roots in the industry, especially Gene who at the age of 19 acquired Acme Garage Door Company from his uncle where he had worked for several years. The year was 1963. From 1977-1981 Gene and Scott also worked together and in those years Mark worked as an installer. In later years Mark pioneered many time saving installation techniques still in use.

As can be duly noted, a rich heritage exists in the company. This history has been a major asset as the clientele continues to grow. In July of 2004 Gene took an early semi-retirement and Scott and Mark purchased his interest in the company. He worked part time, contributing much to the success of the wholesale department and, then retired in 2007.

The main focus of the company in its infancy was to provide affordable garage door systems to local homebuilders and homeowners. As the company evolved it came to be a provider of many different types of door systems, these being offered to the public and also to the wholesale dealer network nationally.

Currently Garage Doors, Inc. builds The Model T, The Model A, The Plantation Series, The V-1 Series and the V-1 Steel Back. Custom panel and steel doors are also available. These offerings cover a wide range of custom door systems including doors that can be painted or stained and that swing, slide or roll up. Garden Gates, Grand Gates, and Superb Shutters are also available. These, of course, can be created in harmony with other architectural elements found on homes of today or yesterday.
